

CICA 2014 International Conference Set To Break Attendance Records!

MINNEAPOLIS , March 6 — The Captive Insurance Companies Association (CICA) 2014 International Conference is set to break records this year with more than 560 attendees and a sold out exhibit hall! The conference starts Sunday and runs through Tuesday, at the Westin Kierland Resort in Scottsdale, AZ.

“We’re excited by the outstanding participation in this year’s conference with over 100 attendees more than last year. It’s a recognition we’re in a dynamic time for the captive industry and we have a lot to share and learn from each other as we explore ‘Captives: Global Opportunities and Solutions,’” says CICA President Dennis Harwick.

“We expect our sold out expo with 49 exhibitors to be a great networking environment for attendees to meet service providers and gather information about the latest developments and new resources in the captive arena,” Harwick added. Exhibitors include businesses focused on: captive and risk management, claims management, regulatory and tax management, credit ratings, investment strategies and services, financial institutions, actuarial consulting. Attendees can also learn about and talk with representatives from a variety of U.S. and international domiciles.

As indicated by the conference theme: “Captives: Global Opportunities and Solutions,” the educational sessions are designed to focus on subjects from emerging coverage trends, to taxation issues and risk management strategies.

In addition to the exhibitors, a number of companies have chosen to support the CICA international Conference with high profile sponsorships.
