

CICA Privacy Statement

Your privacy is important to us. To better protect your privacy we provide this notice explaining our online information practices and the choices you can make about the way your information is collected and used.

This privacy policy is valid for one month from the time you visit our site. If our information practices change in the future, we will only use data collected from the time of the policy change forward for these new purposes, or we will contact you before we use your data for these new purposes and offer you the ability to opt out of these new uses.

For Web site visitors who make purchases on this site

When you make a purchase on our web site, we collect your name, contact information, credit card information, as well as information about your current purchase and we keep information on your purchase history.

This information is used by us and/or our agents: to support your interaction with our site, to deliver your purchases and to contact you again about other services and products we offer. We DO NOT share your name or contact information (including e-mail, telephone and physical address) with other companies.

For Web site visitors who are CICA members or register for CICA International Conference on this site

CICA is committed to providing programs, products and opportunities based on our member's needs. To do this, it is important for us to understand the demographics of our membership and International Conference attendees. In this effort, we would appreciate it if you would take a few minutes to answer certain demographics questions when you join CICA or register for the International Conference.

For Web site visitors who do not make purchases or otherwise identify themselves

If you do not sign on to our Web site, our Web server does not have access to personally identifiable information about you. It does not know your e-mail address unless you volunteer it.

Cookies

We place cookies on all Web site visitor hard drives to collect aggregate information on the number of visitors to our site and the number of pages viewed.

Cookie information is used only by CICA and is not provided to any other organization. It is used in aggregate for traffic analysis and to provide relevant information to our visitors. It is also used for Web site and system administration, including research and development, user analysis and business decision-making.

Security Statement

CICA uses security procedures designed to protect the information we obtain from you via this Web site against unauthorized access and alteration during its storage and use by us. On some pages, we also have implemented a security measure, called SSL encryption, that protects the information you submit to us through our e-mail service during its transmission.

The CICA is committed to protecting your privacy and security. This site is protected by the SSL (Secure Socket Layer) encryption and user authentication standard in certain areas. SSL utilizes data encryption to create a secure environment for you to conduct your on-line transactions. In order for SSL to be effective, you must be using an SSL compliant browser. (e.g. Netscape Navigator 3.0* or Microsoft Internet Explorer 3.0 or higher)
